An aerial photograph of a large outdoor jazz festival. In the center, a stage with a large mural on its back is visible, with the word "PORIJAZZ" written above it. A massive crowd of people fills the area in front of the stage. Several white tents are scattered throughout the festival grounds. The background shows a parking lot with many cars and trucks, and a line of trees. The entire image is framed by a border of colorful, semi-transparent circles in shades of blue, pink, yellow, and light blue.
